Westerdale building demolition postponed

By Janice Harrington

The demolition of the Westerdale Building has been postponed by the Didsbury Town Council.

At their regular council meeting last week, council decided against tearing down the building, which was built in 1925, until more information could be obtained about cost of renovations.

The building had been slated for destruction by council after an offer to purchase the land underneath the building was first presented to the town. The buyer wished to use the land for parking.

But the decision to tear down the old building, also known as the Sunlife Building, caused some concern among members of the Downtown Revitalization Committee who had recently made an application to the Main Street Alberta program for funding to spruce up the Didsbury downtown core.

It was members of the DRC who requested council look further into the restoration of the building before proceeding with demolition after the offer to purchase the land fell through.

"We approached council because we are making specific plans for the physical and promotional aspects of the downtown," said DRC member Gene Hartmann. "And council's decisions impact on those plans. We weren't questioning their earlier decision, we were just concerned about its impact on our application to the Main Street program and ultimately Didsbury's economic health."

Hartmann said the fall through of the deal to purchase the land gave the DRC a chance to ask council to re-examine the decision to tear down the building.

"That's why we brought in Ron Edgecomb [Lacombe's Main Street Alberta program construction coordinator]," he said. "He took a look at the building and called it a diamond in the rough and he took that opinion to council."

Hartmann said Edgecomb also told council he did not believe restoration of the building would cost anymore than the cost to tear it down. He also

Relocation

Realty World moved from its old location in the Westerdale building to this new spot on Main Street last week. The Westerdale Building was slated for demolition but may be facing restoration instead, and may even be designated as a historic site. Original estimates put refurbishment of the building in the same price range as demolition.

Town council notes

By Janice Harrington

A meeting between the town Public Works Committee, the Didsbury Lion's Club and the operational board of the Eldon Foote Hall has been suggested by Didsbury Town Council.

The topic for the meeting would be the upgrading in front of the hall which used to be Didsbury's train station.

The grounds around the hall have not yet been landscaped, creating some concern over the amount of mud washed in to the street in front of the hall.

Paving, sidewalks and curbing for the area will be discussed.

A letter has been sent to Alberta Environment requesting a delay on the required upgrading of a sewer syphon east of town.

Town council sent the letter in the hopes of delaying the upgrade so that project and the construction of a new sewage holding tank which the town must build before next year can be placed under one tender.

The need for upgrade of the syphon was realized last month after heavy rainfall caused an overflow at the syphon site. Raw sewage escaped from the sewage line and was carried into the Rosebud Creek.

Town Administrator Mike Storey said town engineer Vern Sentis had been waiting for heavy rainfall to determine the capacity of the syphon before a recommendation on upgrading could be made.

Town council is requesting more information about cardiac monitor defibrillator units and their usefulness in county emergencies before making any decisions about helping Mountain View Ambulance Services purchase the units.

A request for funding to help buy the units was made by the owners of the county ambulance service and the Mountain View County Council.

The units are used to help cardiac arrest victims by delivering a dose of electrical shock. Both the Mountain View Ambulance Service and the County believe more heart attack patients can be saved in the county if these units are available. County council has offered to help with the purchase of the units on a cost-share basis with each of the municipalities.

But Didsbury Town Council would not make a decision on purchasing the units until they received more information about their effectiveness. Council was concerned about their usefulness considering the size of the county and the amount of time needed to respond to emergency calls.

A by-law concerning an agreement between the Didsbury Town Council, the Didsbury Curling Club and the Didsbury Agricultural Society over the construction of the Didsbury Agri-sportsplex was given first reading at the last town council meeting.

The by-law officiates an agreement between the groups over a $250,000 grant from the town for the construction of the facility which will house a new curling rink.

Under the agreement, council will provide the money over a three year period for the construction of the facility. First payment on the agreement will be made next year in the amount of $90,000.

The agreement was made into a by-law so that it remains binding on the town council and can not be overturned.

First and second reading of a by-law establishing an environmental advisory for the Town of Didsbury was passed at the last town council meeting.

Third and final reading of the by-law will create a board which will act in an advisory capacity to the Didsbury town council on matters regarding the environment.

Under the by-law, nine Didsbury residents will sit on the board as appointed by town council. Six of those members will be residents-at-large, two will come from the schools in Didsbury and one will be a member of the Didsbury Town Council.

Third reading of the by-law is expected at the next Didsbury Town Council meeting on July 21.

Surveying of the site where the new indoor swimming facility will be built has begun.

Didsbury Town Administrator Mike Storey said initial work on the site including surveying and soil testing is underway and final details of the contract for the construction of the pool are expected to be completed by the next town council meeting.

Storey said once the contract has been signed, construction of the pool can begin right away. Construction completion time for the pool is estimated at about six months.

OPINIONS/EDITORIAL

Gun shy?

By Janice Harrington

While doing an interview the other day on the community bond issue story, an interesting comment by the interviewee caught my attention. He said he was concerned that the provincial government might be a little "gun shy" towards any type of local investment these days as a result of the NovAtel loss (or words to that effect anyway).

The reason this comment caught my attention was due to the fact that I had been doing a little thinking on the issue since the huge multi-million dollar losses were announced. I'm a little down on this issue, not really sure who to blame or even if I should blame anyone (I'm with the writer of the letter to the editor a few weeks ago who said it's over, let's not spend anymore money to find out who we should yell at).

But the fact that this loss will have more far reaching effects than anything we have seen to date was really struck home to me by this simple comment about the community bonds. It's very true. Now that the fuss has been raised, and especially considering an election is fast approaching, we can bet the Conservative government is really going to live up to its name. They are going to watch every penny and double check every decision and hold things up to the point of jeopardizing the constructiveness of a project like the community bonds proposal.

I think most people would agree the proposal makes sense—investing your money in your community in a sound, secure project. You make money as an investor and you help ensure the continued economic integrity of the community in which you live. Everyone wins—right? But now, since the creation of the program weighs on the province's willingness to guarantee the principle of the bonds, it looks like everyone might lose.

This provincial government has stated again and again its desire to help build rural Alberta. The community bond issue is a smart way to do it. Its working in other provinces, and Lord knows anything would be a help right now. So instead of continuing to complain, to wallow over past mistakes, we need to act, to concentrate on finding solutions for the future.

Jump back on the horse Don.

Call for Aryan Church rights

Dear Editor:

On Friday, June 26, Judge V.M.H. Smith of the Court of Queen's Bench in Edmonton, refused the Originating Notice Of Motion, 9203 - 12003 of The Church Of Jesus Christ Christian-Aryan Nations, concerning the UNCONSTITUTIONALITY of the Board Of Inquiry Decision and the law under which it was made, namely, The Individual Rights Protection Act, of the Alberta Human Rights Commission.

The Commission had filed a counter Notice of Motion 596329 and 3 Affidavits, that completely failed to disclose the true facts. These facts were that their own list of Counsel listed two names, Mr. Terry Long for himself and the Church, and myself, John Ross Taylor (shown as J.R. Taylor) for the Church.

Historical help

Dear Editor:

Can You Help Us?
We are compiling a history of the rural areas north, west and east of Medicine Hat and Redcliff. The areas included are Breezelawn, Lake Valley, Bowell, Harvest Vale, Terra Nova, Box Springs, Finns Lake, Vale, Bowmanton, and Chappice Lake.

If you lived in any of these areas, or are descendants of families who lived in these areas, or know of anyone who has lived in these areas, please contact: Bowell to Bowmanton Historical Society, Box 714, Medicine Hat, Alberta, T1A 7C6. Phone: Donna Reiger 839-2342; Jo Ann Pahl 548-6626; Fax Number 548-6477. Thank you.

Jo Ann Pahl,
Medicine Hat

Due to the Inquiry harassment, Mr. Long has been absent from his home since September 16, 1991 A.D. Since then I have been the only active representative of the Church in this matter and submitted the written argument to the Board for the Church on September 23, 1991 A.D. Mr. Long's absence has been highly publicized because of an arrest warrant terminated February 28, while the fact that I am a Toronto resident who has been embroiled with the Canadian Human Rights Commission since 1978 A.D., because of a false broadcast by the CBC that I was an escaped felon, was also widely publicized re. telephone messages.

The Alberta Human Rights Commission failed to send me a copy of the Decision, which I did not obtain until May 12 because of urgent business in New York State, Ottawa and the State of Maryland. I correctly compiled with Section 33(2) of the IRPA. However, the Judge had to be almost browbeaten to even attempt to listen to the true facts. Gross negligence and false reporting do not become the AHRC.

The fraud perpetrated by this report is self evident to any person who takes the trouble to examine Exhibit 97, wherein the British Government in 1981 A.D. Denied The Holocaust - "no references in the decrypts to gassing (Auschwitz)," being page 673 of "British Intelligence in the Second World War" by F.H. Hinsley. The Board had taken Judicial Notice of the Holocaust and in the Report failed to mention this. Must courts protect liars??? (sic).

Report from the Legislature

Hon. Roy Brassard, MLA
Olds-Didsbury Constituency
The New Residential Tenancies Act has been proclaimed

The Residential Tenancies Act has just been proclaimed and is slated to become effective on August 1, 1992. This Act, which replaces the Landlord and Tenant Act of 1980, will help better serve both landlords and tenants in our province. Statistics show that there are more than 300,000 units of rental accommodation in Alberta. This new Act increases the rights and obligations of tenants and the landlords who serve them.

The Act provides a fair operating framework and system of remedies for those who get into difficulties in their landlord-tenant relationship. Among other things, the Act includes provisions regarding frequencies of rent increases and evictions of abusive tenants. Under this legislation, rents can only be increased after a minimum of 6 months since the previous increase.

In order to assist landlords who face the stress of dealing with abusive tenants, the legislation allows a landlord to evict an abusive tenant within 48 hours. To balance this, direct reasons must also be given for eviction of a tenant.

There are several other aspects to this legislation including provisions that will allow more options for landlords to deal with abandoned goods and a section that requires tenant security deposits to be placed in trust accounts. Tenants will also have more privacy. The Act limits the hours when a landlord can enter a tenant's home for reasons other than an emergency.

The Residential Tenancies Act is one of the most progressive in Canada. It is the result of three years of public consultation with Alberta's landlords and tenants.

If you would like further information on the Residential Tenancies Act or just want to voice your concerns, please phone my constituency office at 556-3132 or my office in Edmonton at 422-0141 (collect).

Spending Control, Debt Servicing and Reduction Account Now Law

Parliament has passed two key Financial Bills!

The "Spending Control Act" sets firm limits on government spending for the five year period 1991-92 to 1995-96.

This Act reflects the government's commitment to spending restraint. The Minister of Finance must prepare budgets—in terms of program spending—within stated spending limits. The only exceptions are for 4 self-financing programs. These are the Unemployment Insurance Account and Federal Advances to three farm income support programs: The Crop Re-insurance Fund, The Agricultural Commodities Stabilization Accounts, and The Gross Revenue Insurance Plan.

If expenditures on a program rise above projections then the cost has to be offset by reductions elsewhere—the new legislation will not allow borrowing or increased taxes to fund higher-than-expected spending.

The "Debt Servicing and Reduction Account Act" complements the "Spending Control Act" by creating a special account dedicated solely to paying the cost of the national debt.

This law restricts the use of all net revenues of the GST, plus net proceeds from the sale of Crown Corporations and any donations from private citizens and businesses to servicing and reducing the national debt.

Tax-deductible donations can be made directly to the fund—the account will be audited annually by the Auditor General.

Old age pensions increase for July

The new rate for the federal Old Age Security pension, paid to people 65 years old and over, will be $376.31 per month from July to September 1992. This is an increase of $1.87 per month over the previous quarter.

Other benefits will also increase for the July to September 1992 period.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) will increase to $447.20 (from $444.98) per month for a single person and for a married person whose spouse does not receive the Old Age Security pension or a Spouse's Allowance. For each married person whose spouse also receives an Old Age Security pension and for a married person whose spouse receives a Spouse's Allowance, the maximum will increase to $291.29 (from $289.84) per month.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance (SPA), paid to people aged 60 to 64 with a limited income who are married to GIS recipients, will be $667.60 (up from $664.28) per month.

The maximum Widowed Spouse's Allowance (WSPA), paid only to low-income widowed persons aged 60 to 64 who reside in Canada and meet the basic residence requirements, will be $737.03 (up from $733.37) per month.

The Old Age Security Act provides for benefit increases every three months by a factor based on the Consumer Price Index (CPI), the Statistics Canada cost-of-living measure.

Over the past six months, there have been a number of items in the news concerning the relatively small increases in Old Age Security (OAS) benefits.

However, it is important to remember how OAS benefits are calculated to reflect the cost of living.

The federal government started to index OAS benefits on a quarterly basis in 1973 as a way of providing seniors with a quick response to increases in the rate of inflation. This is an effective way of maintaining the purchasing value of OAS benefits. It means that when the cost of living is lower, the OAS benefit increase will be lower. Conversely, when the cost of living is higher the OAS benefit increase is also higher.

The increase is calculated according to the following formula:

Consumer Price Index Ratio = $\frac{\text{CPI figures for Feb. 1992 to April 1992/3}}{\text{CPI figures for Nov. 1991 to Jan. 1992/3}}$

$$= \frac{127.1 + 127.5 + 127.6/3}{127.0 + 126.4 + 127.0/3}$$

$$= 1.005$$

$$= $374.44 \text{ (previous quarter OAS pension)} \times 1.005$$

$$= $376.31 \text{ (new OAS rate)}$$

Students prepare for exchange trip

By Janice Harrington

Nine Didsbury students are preparing to take part in a national exchange program.

Geoff Millar, Sheldon Valleau, Shawn Ahmad, Obey Chanthavong, Kari Paul, Krista Millar, Randeau Mahon, Andrew Benton and Jason May, along with their supervisor M.J. Paul are all now visiting with other exchange students from Winnipeg and are preparing to leave after this month to visit them in return.

"I think it is going to be fun," said Sheldon Valleau. "We get to meet people, try to understand them and see if they are any different from us."

The exchange is part of the national Voyageurs '92 program announced earlier this year by the federal government. Under the program, kids between 16 and 21 in each federal riding applied for the chance to fly to their "twin" riding in exchange for hosting others their age in their homes.

The Wild Rose riding, represented by M.P. Louise Feltham, was twinned with the Montreal North riding, but Mary Hickley, Voyageurs program coordinator, said the response was so overwhelming, Wild Rose picked up a second twin.

"Originally we only twinned with Montreal North, but they had only 60 apply, and then the twin riding for Winnipeg North backed out of the program so we got to twin with them as well because we had so many applications."

The extra twin meant the group of friends from Didsbury, all between 15 and 16 years old, were accepted for the program. While Valleau said the group is a little disappointed in not going to Montreal, they are looking forward to seeing how things are done in Manitoba.

"I wish we were going to Quebec, doing something really different, but I think this will be a lot of fun too. We get to see their province and to find out what they think is interesting and see what they do for fun. And we can also find out how they feel about separation considering they are a bit closer to Quebec than we are."

The exchange students from Winnipeg arrived in Didsbury last Saturday and are being billeted at the home of the nine students. Valleau said they plan to take them to the Stampede, Sylvan Lake and West Edmonton Mall for a taste of Alberta culture.

All air fare for the Voyageurs program is being supplied by Air Canada for free. Students involved in the program only have to pay for spending money while participating.

Agriculture matters

By Bill McKnight
THE GATT

The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) negotiations to improve the rules governing international trade are slowly moving closer to a resolution now that the U.S. and EC have committed themselves to an early conclusion of the Uruguay Round. With agriculture playing so key a role in these talks, we have to continue fighting for the best deal for our farmers.

Canada needs a successful outcome at the talks for the millions of Canadians whose jobs depend on exports. That's why Canada's GATT position calls for more open global markets and fairer, more equally applied trade rules. That's why we are pushing hard to reduce export subsidies that unfairly undercut our grain producers.

Our position recognizes the importance of supply management in Canadian agriculture. The interpretation given by recent GATT panels has cast serious doubt on the future effectiveness of the existing Article XI. We want Article XI strengthened and clarified to provide adequate import controls in support of our supply managed commodities. Canada is not backing down on its support for supply management.

This is not just the federal government's thinking on agricultural trade. Farmers and business people like you have worked with the federal and provincial governments to shape this GATT position. Prime Minister Brian Mulroney and the federal government have continued to express their on-going commitment to these goals.

Partnership has been the strength of our negotiations. The Prime Minister has had two recent meetings with farm leaders, in February and May. Other ministers and myself have also been meeting constantly with your leaders to discuss the GATT negotiations. With your leaders, we have expressed our views, clearly and explicitly, to trade and agriculture ministers of all the key players in these negotiations. For example, the Prime Minister has voiced our concerns to each of the leaders of the G7 countries on every occasion.

We have stated our position again and again to our key trading partners in Washington, Brussels, Geneva, London, Tokyo, Bonn and Paris—but government action alone is not enough. We have asked Canadian farm leaders to work with their counterparts in the U.S. and the EC to bring pressure to bear on their own governments in favor of our balanced position. I am very pleased with the work groups such as the Canadian Federation of Agriculture are doing to advance our work with the U.S. and EC farm sectors.

Dairy cooperatives finalize merger

Three Western Canadian dairy cooperatives have announced that they have completed final agreements for the merger of their respective organizations.

At a meeting held in Edmonton, Boards of Directors of Fraser Valley Milk Producers Cooperative Association or Burnaby, B.C., Northern Alberta Dairy Pool of Edmonton, Alberta, and Central Alberta Dairy Pool of Red Deer, Alberta, signed the merger agreement that brings their respective organizations under the umbrella of a single new entity known as Agrifoods International Cooperative Ltd.

The new cooperative will operate under the name Dairyworld Foods Ltd., with corporate offices in Burnaby, B.C. Divisional and regional offices will be located in Red Deer, Calgary, Edmonton, and Burnaby.

"This merger is critical to the long-term viability and competitiveness of the dairy processing industry in Western Canada," commented David E. Coe, who assumes the role of President and C.E.O. "And it will substantially improve our ability to meet our customers' growing needs."

East Didsbury 4H beef and light horse

By Elissa Sakariassen

The beef members had a very successful day at the Carstairs and District Show and Sale. We had nine members showing steers. Thank you to all of the horse members who helped with stall setup and stall duty on those days.

Our annual banquet and Awards Night was held June 25 at 6:30 p.m. at the Mountain View Hall. The guest speaker for the evening was cowboy poet Bryn Thiessen. He was excellent and everyone enjoyed his poetry, whether it was funny or serious.

The Light Horse Club Fun Day will be held August 8. If interested you may phone Tracy Kasprick at 335-4647 after 5 p.m. We hope to see all our members there and many members from other clubs.

Stan's got a tighter fittin' cap now.

Stan was checking his irrigation pipes one day.
He had one in the air, shaking it,
when this ol' bird on the line started squawkin'.
Stan didn't even notice.

I guess this bird didn't like being ignored.
So it started squawkin' louder n' ever.
Stan didn't even glance at it.

That made it right ornery.

See, it swooped down and snatched Stan's cap.
Well, you can bet that made ol' Stan look up.
Just in time to see the bird fly back to its perch on the line.

When Stan looked up he realized he could've lost more than a cap if he hit one of those wires with an irrigation pipe.

Stan learned a whole lot that day.
Aside from the fact that he needed
a tighter fittin' cap.

The best way to avoid an electrical accident when checking or moving irrigation pipes is to avoid power lines altogether. If you are working near overhead lines, please, look up and live.

Service provides caring gifts

Another milestone has passed—a wedding, anniversary, birth of your baby.

In all likelihood, you will receive numerous gifts and mementos to honor such events. . . but how many will be treasured is often a question few gifts can fulfill.

Rixta Moritz's clients have little to worry about in that aspect. For the past eight months, Moritz has been working as a program administrator for a unique gift service called "We Care."

"We Care" is actually a community service systems promotional company focussing on the Christian way of giving. Although Moritz's operation is sponsored through businesses in Olds and services only the town of Olds and area, many other "We Care" operations exist province-wide.

"All anyone has to do to receive a special 'we care' gift is fill out and send in one of the information cards I mail them," says Moritz.

How does she know who's celebrating an upcoming event? "well," Moritz explains, ". . . being a Moritz helps, but actually most of these kinds of events are printed ahead of time in the local papers."

In return, the special individual, or couple, receives either an inscribed Bible—for those celebrating weddings or 25th, 40th, 50th or 60th anniversaries—or a personalized baby collector's plate for new mothers and fathers.

"Sometimes," Moritz says, "you have a choice. For anniversaries, the couple can either choose the Bible or our Family Heirloom Plate. It's inscribed with your name and has various spaces left blank for you to fill in as part of your family tree."

The best part is, of course, that all gifts are free. "The only stipulation is that the person [or their parents] are Olds or Olds-area residents," says Moritz.

In keeping with the community-minded format for the service, several local businesses make annual donations towards the cost of purchasing the gifts.

"H & R Pontiac, The Kinetite Club of Olds, Craigs General Store, Simm's Furniture Ltd., Stang's Health Centre, Olds Value Drug Mart, and Olds Co-op all donate "x" amount each year," says Moritz.

"All we ask is that somewhere along the way they remember to drop into these places of business and say thanks."

Circus fundraiser planned

By Janice Harrington

The circus is coming to Olds. Circus Pages a three-ring, travelling circus will be performing two shows in Olds this weekend as part of a fundraising effort for the Olds Fire Department.

Department spokesperson Bob Cardwell said money raised by the show will go towards the purchase price of a new pumper for the fire station.

"Circus Pages contacted us and asked if we would like to be a co-sponsor," Cardwell said. "They have done this before with departments in B.C. and Saskatchewan and have been really successful. And we felt it would be fun to work with them based on the recommendations of the other departments."

Cardwell said the circus will feature such acts as tigers and bears, elephant rides, aerial acts, tumblers and clowns. Money raised for the fire department will come from a percentage of ticket sales.

Circus Pages will perform two shows in the Olds Arena on Thursday, July 16 at 4:30 and 8 p.m. The show will also be seen in Sundre on Saturday, July 18.

Tickets for the circus are $8 in advance and $9 at the door. Advance tickets can be purchased from any Olds firefighter or at the town office.

CREMONA/WATER VALLEY NEWS

Dog Pound Rodeo tradition continues

By Janice Harrington

The long standing, annual Dog Pound summer tradition continues this month with the organization of the Dog Pound Rodeo, set to run July 15.

Dog Pound Rodeo Association organizer Don Robertson said plans are in place for the 86th annual event which has become a well-loved custom in the small community south of Cremona.

"I think this has been going on since 1906," said Robertson. "I do know that it is very old and it has become an event where everybody comes out to meet friends and get together."

The rodeo, run by the Dog

Pound Agricultural Society, started out at the turn of the century as an annual picnic for members of the Dog Pound community. Robertson said the picnic just kind of evolved in to the rodeo.

"They have always had the picnic, but sometimes, like during the war years, there wasn't a rodeo held," he said. "But people still came to the picnic, just to get together with old friends and spend the day."

Robertson, who took over the rodeo organizing job from his father, said this year's rodeo will feature five main events. Those events are steer wrestling, calf roping, bareback, saddle bronc and bull riding. Also happening at this year's rodeo is boys steer riding for ages 14 and under the team roping.

"It is always an enjoyable day," said Robertson.

Besides the rodeo events, the annual picnic will also be held. Robertson said the Crossfield Elks are putting on the lunch spread and are also organizing a number of games and rides which should suit all ages of kids.

Another tradition which will continue at this year's Dog Pound Rodeo is the beer garden which will open at about noon at the rodeo grounds.

"We have things going from morning to night," said Robertson. "It is only a one day event, but we make the most of that day."

The 1992 Dog Pound Rodeo will be held on Wednesday, July 15. Robertson said holding the rodeo the third Wednesday of every July is another tradition that has followed the event throughout the years.

The rodeo itself is held at the Dog Pound Stampede grounds which are located just off Highway 22, 7 miles south of Cremona. Turn right at the Dog Pound Campground and look for the signs.

SUNDRE/WESTWARD HO NEWS

Ranch gathering unites families and friends

The time for true Christian fellowship need not only take place at Christmas.

Out at the Alta Bar Ranch, near Sundre, bringing people together to promote gospel and quality family time comes around in July.

The event is once again being promoted as "The Gathering," and is set to go-rain or shine—July 25th and 26th.

One of the organizers for the event, Cory Littlewood, says this year's full roster of cowboy poets and Country and Western musicians is bound to draw a lot of interest. Feature artists include entertainers such as: Bryn Thiessen and Ben and Sharmon Crane of Sundre; just to name a few.

But attendance isn't really a huge concern for organizers this year. Last year's tallies reached 1,600, a figure Littlewood expects will be surpassed again this year.

Since the Fun Rodeo, Jamboree, Bar-be-que and Western Church Service event began in 1985, residents in and out of the area have found their way to the Alta Bar Ranch.

Littlewood says much of the credit for the Gathering's popularity goes to the community. The district's ladies community association, for example, donates homemade pies, while area ranchers and farmers supply the hay rides.

Alta Bar Ranch is located just south of Sundre near Bergen.

Lone Pine Bench fair coming soon

The Lone Pine Agricultural Society will be holding its annual bench fair on Thursday, August 20 in the Lone Pine Hall, with viewing of the exhibits from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided by local artists with their musical talents. For the youngsters there will be hay rides, balloon making and possibly face painting.

The fair committee is looking forward to receiving your entries in the following categories: flowers, potted plants, fruits, domestic products, vegetables and baking. A special class in the baking section is the Fry's Cocoa Family Favorites contest, with special prizes to the top three winners. Your Fry's Cocoa label or can is to be displayed with each entry and only those desserts not requiring refrigeration are eligible. Should you be a winner at our fair, you will be entered in the Fry's Cocoa Grand Prize draw where five $100.00 cash prizes will be awarded. This draw will take place on December 11, 1992 held by the Cadbury Beverages Ltd. Also, there is the ever popular Heart Smart Food class. These recipes of foodstuffs are those featuring a low amount of fat and salt while increasing the amount of fibre and containing a moderate amount of sugar. Entries that require refrigeration are ineligible. Special prizes will be awarded in this class also.

Plus there's categories for sewing-traditional and serger, crochet, knitted work, quilting (and the Alberta Association of Agr. Societies Quilt competition), hobby and handicrafts, art work, photography and pioneer skills.

For the creative youngsters in your family, there is a junior section of arts and crafts. This is divided into three categories of preschool 6 and under, youth 7-12 years and teens 13-16 years of age. These classes are very popular with the youth and they display a whole variety of talent and creativity.

For our seniors, 65 years and over, we have a variety of classes under arts and crafts.

This year we have a special sponsor for our sheaf grains, grains, silage and hay classes. Our thanks to Parkland Agri Services who will be providing the cash prizes for first place in each of the four categories.

Non perishable exhibits will be accepted Wednesday, August 19 from 7:00 - 9:00 p.m. and all exhibits will be accepted Thursday, August 20 from 8:00 - 10:00 a.m. Entry tags are available at this time or you can get them from committee members. There is no entry fee but there will be cash prizes awarded to the top three exhibits in each category. The Lone Pine Bench Fair prize catalogues are available at the local businesses in Didsbury or the Elf Design Studio and the District Agriculturists' office in Olds or from committee members.

TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

Tickets now on sale for air show

The 9th annual Red Deer International Airshow will take to the Central Alberta skies on the Heritage Day long weekend, Saturday, August 1 and Sunday, August 2.

Top billing this year goes to two MiG 29 fighter aircraft from the Ukraine Air Force, part of the newly formed Commonwealth of Independent States (C.I.S.). "It's a major coup for us," said Dennis Cooper, President of the Red Deer Airshow Association. "Never in our wildest dreams would we have imagined that we could ever attract performers from the old Soviet Union."

The Board has seized the chance to showcase a number of Russian-built aircraft, both in aerial demonstrations and on static display. Clint McHenry's aerobatic monoplane, a Sukhoi SU-26M, has superb vertical performance, an unbelievable roll rate, and dramatic sound according to the Airshow Association's "Air Boss" Ivan Busenius. A Soviet YAK-50 flown by Bill Reesman, a retired USAF pilot with 320 Vietnam combat missions to his credit, will delight the more than 50,000 spectators expected at this year's aviation extravaganza. Bill Reesman's MiG 17 will also dazzle the crowds with its tightly choreographed aerobatic routine.

Due to operational commitments, the Airshow Board remains in suspense as to the participation of active military aircraft from both Canada and the USA--last week, however, confirmation of an aerial demonstration by two A-10 Warthogs added to the excitement of over 1,000 volunteers from Central Alberta who come together to stage what the community refers to as "theatre in the sky."

While all the sky is the stage, there will be plenty of action happening on the ground at this Airshow too. Static displays and demonstrations are also crowd-pleasers--performing in their first airshow, the American Acrobats who will high dive from 80 ft. above the crowd into an airbag, are an example of what to expect. Also new to this year's show will be the Canadian

Armed Forces Naval Reserve Band on Saturday. Scott Ham-mack's Smoke-N-Thunder exhibition jet dragster is returning by popular demand.

Other headliners include: The Holiday Inn/Coca-Cola aerobatic team flying four Pitts Special S-2 biplanes; Danny Sorensen in his "Blue Dragon"; Jim Roberts, flying both his Long EZ as well as his Laser 200; and the US Army's parachute team, the Golden Knights.

The Board is holding its ticket prices to this year's show at the 1991 level while delivering the "bigger and better" quality of entertainment that people have come to expect. Best value advance tickets are now on sale at Alberta Treasury Branches and at Ticket Master locations.

For 24-hour information, call the Airshow Hot Line at 340-2333.

PERSONALITIES

Dairy pioneer honored with distinction

Red Deer's Western Exposition Association has just awarded Francis E. Wright (1909-1981) with the 1992 Dairy Award of Distinction.

Wright is being heralded for forming the "Wrightthome" herd of Holsteins back in 1955 and for his on-going contributions to the Didsbury and surrounding communities.

This is not the first time Francis Wright has been honored for his calibre of dairy farming. From the time he purchased two train car loads of registered and grade Holstein cattle over 35 years ago to the period when his health had begun to fail, he received numerous certificates and honorariums.

Wright was a strong supporter of 4-H, with all seven of his children active members along with his grandchildren who are current 4-H members. He was also a Director and Honorary Director of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede, and Honorary Lifetime member of the Southern Alberta Holstein Club as well as one of the original members and organizers.

Wright was a registered Yorkshire Swine breeder and an honorary member of the Swine Breeders of Alberta. He was a Director and Dairy Cattle Chairman of the Olds Agricultural Society for a number of years. He was a director of the Rosebud Community and instrumental in renovating the hall after it closed as a school.

Wright semi-retired and sold the Dairy to his son Don in 1971 but remained active in the Holstein business buying and selling open heifers until no longer being physically able.

The Dairy Award of Distinction Wright was named to is the sixth of its kind. Previous winners include: 1987: Curtis Clarke, Owen Richards and Dale Cole, 1988: James Bentley, Albert Kamps and Charlie Quaille, 1989: Sam Chalack, Jack Bailey and George Longeway, 1990: Peter Wadman, Eric Longeway and Laurence Henderson, and 1991: Charlie Dixon and Jack Cullen.

Open sunshine

Didsbury men took advantage of the warm, sunny weather last weekend to compete in the annual Didsbury Golf Club's Men's Open. Top spot in the tournament was won by Didsbury Golf Club manager Allan Scott.

SMITH

Albert (Bert) Graham Smith of Didsbury, passed away July 6, 1992 at the Didsbury Health Care Center at the age of 93 years.

Bert was born Jan. 15, 1899 at the Virginia Ranch at Dog Pound, Alberta. When Bert was 4, his father died. His mother took Bert and his two sisters back to England where she took training to become a midwife. A year later they returned to Canada where she married Charles Brown, Sr. and began farming west of Didsbury.

As a teenager Bert used to be responsible for transporting his mother to assist in all the local births. Often the trips were made with horse and buggy in adverse weather conditions. At the age of 21 Bert rode a cattle car to Vancouver where he enrolled in Hemphills Mechanic School. When he graduated, he accepted a job in Los Angeles in a shop repairing Model T and Model A laundry trucks. During his 3½ years in California he also drove gravel trucks and worked on the desert at Barstow maintaining a Holt Caterpillar engine on a gravel crusher. When he returned to Canada he started doing carpenter work with Bill Pitt. One of their projects was building a barn for Albion Buckler. It was here that he met his wife to be, Della Buckler, for the beginning of a 60 year marriage.

Bert & Della made their home on a farm in the Rugby district where their two sons Edgar and Bruce were born and raised. They farmed there until moving to Didsbury in 1984. Bert loved carpenter work and would spend any free time he could get with a hammer in his hand. He has been totally blind for the past 14 years but still continued to build gates and grain bins for the farm and has built many saw horses to give to friends.

He will be fondly remembered for his sense of humor and his ability to cope with his handicap. He took a keen interest in world affairs and enjoyed visiting by alternating stories of the past with recent news events.

He was predeceased by two sisters; Violet Farley of Powell River, B.C. and Nora Prosser of Calgary and one half brother; Charlie Brown of Didsbury and daughter-in-law; Shirley Smith of Innisfail. Left to mourn are his loving wife Della, two sons Edgar of Innisfail, Bruce and wife Carol of Didsbury and three grandsons Royden, Rayburn, and Rodmond Anderson of Didsbury.

Funeral services were conducted July 9th from St. Cyprian's Anglican Church with Rev. John Orman officiating and interment in the Didsbury Cemetery.

Active pallbearers were Jim Hosegood, Delman Henkelman, Lawrence Malinowski, David Hughes, Eric Goetzen, and Raymond Vipond. Honorary pallbearers were Harvey & Dorothy, Bessie & Percy and Doug & Millie Hosegood, Alfred & Cora Cook, Lloyd Baughman, Ron Blain, Henry & Mary Hildebrandt.

If friends desire memorial donations may be made to the CNIB or a charity of one's choice.

Arrangements were entrusted to Mountain View Funeral Chapels of Olds.

DUBOIS

Robert Andrew of Didsbury passed away at the Mountain View Health Care Unit, Didsbury, on Sunday, July 12, 1992 at the age of 78 years.

He is survived by his wife of 50 years, Mary; his daughter, Donna and husband David McWhinney of Calgary; his sons Gerald and wife Marlene and Dennis and wife Connie of Toronto. He was a loving grandfather to Erin and Robert McWhinney and Jonathan Dubois.

Bob will be missed by his brothers, Lawrence, Edmond and James of St. Claude, Manitoba and sisters Jean Warren of Wilkie, Saskatchewan and Marie Lawrence of Winnipeg.

Bob was predeceased by an infant son, Terrance, his parents Moise and Mary, and brothers Thomas, Jack, Wilbert, Julian, Ernest and Arthur.

Bob was born and raised in St. Claude, Manitoba. He came to Didsbury in 1937 where he met Mary Luft. They were married on October 15, 1941 and lived the remainder of the war years in Welland, Ontario where Gerald and Terrance were born.

In 1946 Bob and family returned to farm west of Didsbury where he remained until 1957. During this time, Donna and Dennis were born. In 1958 he became grain buyer for Pioneer Grain Co. in Cremona. Bob retired in 1978 to Didsbury.

Bob will be remembered by family and friends for his sense of humour and compassion.

A memorial service will be held on Thursday, July 16, 1992 at 2:00 p.m. at the Zion Evangelical Church, 2025 - 20 Ave., Didsbury with Pastor Richard A. Pahl officiating.

Honorary pallbearers will be Marvin (Shorty) Avent, Gordon Befus, Mick Earle, Hilda Frizzell, Ray Martin, George McBain, Duncan MacFarquhar, Rollie Thurston and Hazel Youngs.

If friends desire memorial donations may be made to the Alberta Cancer Foundation, Tom Baker Cancer Centre, 1331 - 29 St. N.W., Calgary, Alberta, T2N 4N2.

Seniors column

By Roy Brassard, Minister Responsible for Seniors

Picture yourself 15 years from now. Where do you live? Are you financially secure? What are your hobbies? How is your health? It can be difficult to envision your life in the future, but over the past few months hundreds of Albertans have done just that.

My staff and I are holding public consultation meetings in 12 communities across the province. Information we gather at the meetings will be used to develop a comprehensive plan for action in support of seniors both now and in the future.

I am impressed by the quality of information and comments we have received from participants, and I want to update you on the progress of the meetings.

We begin each meeting by telling participants why their input is so important. The average age of Albertans is increasing rapidly, and so is the proportion of older people in Alberta, especially those over age 85. By the year 2016 the group aged 65 and older is expected to increase by 149%.

Given the large increase in the number of seniors, we need to start now to plan for future services. As well we want feed back on current government services.

In Alberta we have a comprehensive array of seniors programs but seniors and government must closely examine society as it will be 10-20 years from now to meet challenges in health care, housing and the labour force. With finite resources and increasing numbers of seniors the expectations of the 60's cannot be met by the reality of the 90's. Some things will have to change.

To help the discussions at the meetings, 10 background papers on significant issues facing older Albertans are distributed to participants. The issues addressed in the papers include health, housing, recreation, financial situation, labour force participation, elder abuse, technology, independent living, demographics and principles to guide services for seniors.

People attending the meetings are divided into discussion groups, and asked to identify important issues, priorities and solutions to problems. It is fascinating to listen to these lively discussions. Participants exchange opinions, personal anecdotes and information with a group of people whom they probably have never met and may have far different backgrounds than themselves. There are some disagreements, but there is also a good deal of consensus.

For example, in one group people agreed we need a greater variety of housing for seniors. One member enthusiastically touted a project in the United States in which as many, or few, home care and handy person services as needed are provided to residents of individual units. Another group member said more homes should be designed to meet the need of seniors for such items as lower cupboards and railings in the bathroom. Another person said the needs of middle income seniors are not being met. Another member believed there is not enough subsidized housing. Most members of the group felt there was a great need for lodges in rural areas and smaller communities, but there was no agreement on who should pay the costs of building the lodges.

In another group, participants agreed Albertans should make home care a priority so seniors can stay in their homes as long as possible. They talked about the need for support for seniors who have been in long term care but are ready to return to the community or their own homes.

"We have nowhere for seniors to go in the community who are sick but get better. They become bed-blockers. We need a support system for them to go back to the community," one participant told her group.

She told the story of how, through the efforts of local volunteers, several seniors who were in the hospital in her area are now receiving help to live away from the facility.

These are just a few examples of the kind of information and views expressed over several hours in the small groups. There were many other issues discussed including transportation, elder abuse, security and recreation. However, most participants have identified four topics as the most important issues facing seniors: health, housing, the financial situation of seniors, and independent living.

All of the information is recorded and will be used with other research as the focus for a discussion at a provincial conference on a "future agenda for older Albertans" to be held in Edmonton in October of 1992, and ultimately lead to a long-term policy framework for seniors services.

Many participants have told me the meetings are productive and a good way for seniors and other members of the public to provide input.

"I enjoyed it," commented one participant in Medicine Hat. "The topics are not new but it got together a nice sample of people talking to each other. Everybody had a chance to have their say."

Attendance at the meetings has ranged between about 50 and 100 participants. I am pleased a variety of people have attended including seniors, people who work with seniors and older adults. It is important older adults and baby boomers, as well as seniors, think now about their lives and community in the future.

I want to thank participants for their help. I also want to assure you that once these meetings are complete, we will continue to consult with seniors, their representatives and the general public.

Census finds fewer Alberta farms

A downward trend in the number of farms on the Prairies has continued, but Alberta had only one per cent fewer farms in the 1991 census of agriculture than in 1986. There were 57,245 farms in 1991 compared to 57,777 in 1986 and 62,702 in 1971. Results from the agriculture census were released earlier this month. "Our statistics branch staff will be looking at the census in more detail, and will report on particular Alberta trends," says David Walker, head of Alberta Agriculture's statistics branch.

family-operated farms accounted for 98 per cent of all farms, non-family corporations for just over one per cent and the remainder were institutional farms, community pastures and Hutterite colonies. As in the past three censuses, one-quarter of census farms generated three-quarters of gross farm receipts. Information about census publications and from the census is available from Statistics Canada regional reference centres.

Over 41 per cent of all Alberta farms were classified as cattle farms, he notes, and the average size of Alberta farms is 898 acres. Both pig and chicken farming has become more concentrated. Twenty years ago about 40 per cent of farms reported having pigs and chickens. In 1991 10.7 per cent of farms had pigs and 15.5 per cent had chickens. Nearly 40,000 of Alberta farmers reported taking soil erosion control measures. Family farms continue to account for most Canadian farms he adds. In 1991

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages

It's a proven performer. Rugged, tough, durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot. And concrete is safe. Quality controlled concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice.
A concrete basement needs little heat or air-conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

Local strawberries are ready

Alberta. The sweetest strawberries are the ones you pick yourself. A single taste will be enough to convince you.

Not long ago, strawberry farms were almost unheard of here in Alberta. In recent years however, superior varieties well suited for Alberta conditions have become available, and the commercial production of strawberries has grown from about 40 acres in 1982 to over 400 acres in 1992. The Alberta Special Crops and Horticultural Research Center in Brooks has been a key player in testing new strawberry varieties and making that information available to Alberta farmers.

A strawberry from a good quality variety picked at the fully ripe stage will be red all the way through the fruit, firm and sweet.
Berries should be picked with the leafy green caps still attached and should not be washed until just before using; otherwise, self life will be greatly shortened. For those who make their own jams, the difference between a white centered berry and fully red fruit means the difference between an insipid, pale pink jam versus a blood red, dense, aromatic preserve.

Most of the commercial production of strawberries in the province is being sold direct-to-consumer at "Pick Your Own" operations. If you have never been to a U-Pick before, you are in for a treat. It doesn't take long to fill a few baskets and the whole family can enjoy an afternoon in the country.

The Alberta Market Gardeners Association has set up a toll free telephone number that can be called to find the nearest fruit or vegetable farms. The Association will send a pamphlet listing all their members and locations at no cost. The number is 1-800-387-6239.

The June 15th meeting was held at the home of Pat VanTetering with 10 members present. The song Pat chose was Raindrops Keep Falling On My Head.

Twenty-one cents was collected from each member for A.C.W.W., while we answered the roll call which was A Convention I Remember.

Catherine McNaughton and Elsie Brander will do the hospital visit this month.

A new toilet has been set up at Midway park. A date was set for staining the tables there. Schedules were handed out for clean-ups for the summer months until the end of October. Garbage bags are available for this.

Dates were set for our husbands' supper and an evening of bowling as well as for quilting and final plans for a wedding reception in July.

Nine garbage bags of clothing have been taken to the thrift shop in Sundre.

A donation of $115.00 will be given to STARS.

Correspondence was a letter from A.W.I. regarding cut backs to them. We voted on the options available to us.

A date was set for serving at the Nursing Home on July 16th. Marge Fisher had a paper called Employment Equity taken from the Readers Digest. Companies have quotas they have to meet when hiring employees, these include minorities, women and colored people. This makes for hard feelings as white and males are often held back. This is Catherine McNaughton was our delegate for Convention this year, she gave a very detailed report which we enjoyed very much. The convention was held with Unifarm this year for the first time. We shared the speakers and the banquet, but had our own business meetings. Catherine enjoyed the convention very much.

Happy Birthday was sung to several of our members.

The story behind Canada's Sports poet

By Lyn Goertzen

An excerpt from a book by Canada's only full-time sports poet. A book that, according to publishing experts, would never be printed, accepted, or even read. It is, in fact, Frank Pavlick's 10th book, defying the odds and proving doubters wrong.

Publishing experts did, however, know what they were talking about—past statistics did not herald a promising future. In a country where the sale of even 700 copies of any given book of Poetry is considered a miracle, it was only logical that publishers tell Mr. Pavlick he would not survive on writing sports poetry. That was 10 years ago.

Today, from Red Deer, Alberta, he has just released his 11th book, Canadian Laughs and Jokes, with a distribution of 5,000 throughout Western Canada. Previous titles, some penned under the name Herb Holloway and illustrated by British Columbia's Bob Murray, include One the Rocks (curling 1976), Teed Off (golfing 1977) and Happy Hooking (hockey 1978); all sell out with more than 100,000 in circulation. Football Tackle Tales (1985) is still available.

Mr. Pavlick's career is sweetened with the weekly acceptance of his poetry by 15 Alberta newspapers, 10 radio stations, and a regular monthly appearance on local television. His poetry is printed on 100,000 wall plaques distributed nationwide, and Mr. Pavlick has just completed a series of Rodeo-related plaques as a promotion for a major Canadian service station company. He is also writing Canada's first sports album, a combination boogie woogie-blues album of songs and readings and a one-act play which he plans to perform at a local arts theatre. In addition, he has interviewed and written poetry for sports greats such as Joe Frazier, Rusty Staub, Danny Galian, and Ken Dryden.

Meeting Mr. Pavlick, it is easy to see why he has beaten the odds. Constantly searching for another subject, another inspiration, he is an omnivorous lover of the written word. Clean out his bulging pockets and you will find scraps of toilet paper, cigarette boxes and gum wrappers covered with notes hastily scribbled while sitting at a red light or service station. It doesn't stop there. Wife, Delia, thinks nothing of having her sleep disturbed as Frank leaps out of bed seeking pen and paper.

"It's just part of his way of living," she says. "Sometimes he slips away every night but, after many years of marriage, I'm used to it. He's such an 'up' person that he's always on the go, moving or talking, and you often have to keep him on the right track or he's off on something else."

Recognition didn't happen overnight for Mr. Pavlick, who decided to become a full-time professional poet in January 1984, but after six years his popularity has grown. CBC Radio's Don Hill has described him as "Canada's Sport Poet Laureate" and his poetry is characterized as a "new arm of sport" by the Alberta Sport Council.

Not surprisingly, Mr. Pavlick and his family are sports enthusiasts themselves. He trains daily for as many as 10 10-km marathons a year, and his five children have been recognized as outstanding athletes in Red Deer and have represented the city in national championships. Even Delia, the only non-competitor, is inscribed in each of her husband's books as "the best good sport of all."

Mr. Pavlick describes himself as a poetry entrepreneur, but says he fits into the same category as most people in that he has been rejected by major publishers. He does not dwell on the negative, however, but has a contagious lust for life that makes him succeed.

"If you never quit, you will win," he says. "Keep striving by focusing on the positive. We all have 24 hours in a day and must use these to the fullest. If you don't set goals and chart your course, how can you expect your boat to reach its destination?" He will never quit until one of his books makes the national best seller list—"that's the bottom line," he says.

Mr. Pavlick does not lack ideas to ignite his imagination. When he is not writing humorous sports poetry, he is working as an inspirational poet. He has no real concept of the finished piece, he says, just the words and rhyme it will incorporate. Watching him is like watching a child full of excitement and freedom of expression. Feelings of sureness, certainty, love, and laughter are all combined with his passion for sports.

It is this quest for success that makes Mr. Pavlick a popular motivational speaker for the Alberta Speakers Bureau. As well, he tours libraries and schools throughout the province promoting sports as an integral part of today's society, and he reads and lectures on poetry. He has also been commissioned to instruct writing workshops at the 1990 Winter Games in Camrose, Alberta, and to write and read poetry in the 1991 Summer Games in Brooks, Alberta. He wrote and read poetry for broadcast during the recent Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea and for CBC Radio during last year's Stanley Cup playoffs.

Mr. Pavlick feels his poetry is popular because he writes in a down-to-earth style, deploring bad grammar, misspelled words, and swearing.

"I write so it is flowing, smooth, and understandable to read. Unless you write in a way people know, how can you expect them to understand?"

His poetry is about more than sports, although he does believe sport is the only reason we are still around.

"The rest of the world is so depressing that if it weren't for sports we would have all drowned in a mire of seriousness by now," he says. "A world without sports would mean kids roaming the streets throwing rocks. I teach 'street smarts', and I teach that life can be wonderful and fun. I firmly believe that you can be anything you want to be."

Born in Stellarton, Nova Scotia, and coming from a family of strict, traditional coal miners, Mr. Pavlick knows what it's like to have a dream.

"Boys were supposed to dig coal but I wanted to be a pianist, an option only considered appropriate for girls. I realized my dream and that is why I encourage kids to understand their emotions and recognize that if they want to be something other than the norm, they are not strange."

Not only is Mr. Pavlick an accomplished boogie woogie pianist, but he has written more than 100 songs over 30 years playing piano in bars and clubs. Also fitted into his 55 years are 20 years with the Royal Canadian Air Force as a base information officer, three years touring Europe as a CBC play-by-play sports broadcaster, and a stint as a professional comedian. Perhaps it is this diversified background which enables him to write so realistically about life.

Working towards a Bachelor of Arts to "expand my mind," Mr. Pavlick does not study poetry or writing. He writes the way he sees things, researching his poetry in people's faces.

"I get my instruction from people. Eye and facial expressions explain feelings, tell stories, and can light up a whole room. I prefer not to be a clone of poets and instructors before me and, by doing my own thing, I like to think I am creating a new world for future poets."

"My life is poetry and that's where I'm going to stay. I'm like Robert Service—I'm a proud Canadian and poetry is my whole world."
